Chopard launches the Rihanna♥Chopard Collection in the Lion City

Luxury jewellery and watch brand Chopard teamed up with Grammy-award winning pop star Rihanna for its Rihanna♥Chopard collection, inspired by the singer's home island of Barbados, its colourful foliage, and vibrant carnival. The collaboration also saw a fine jewellery line, Ice Cube Pure, featuring minimalistic and geometric designs made of 18K fairmined rose gold and jungle green ceramic. The collection was launched in Singapore at Chopard's Ngee Ann City boutique store on July 20. As DJ Jade Rasif kicked off the evening with music, including some of Rihanna's tracks, guests were also treated to champagne and canapés, fun photo booths, and fashion illustrations. The evening turned out to be every bit bright and cheerful as the Rihanna Chopard collection.

RENDEZVOUS IN VENICE

Jaeger-LeCoultre celebrates art and cinema with a Gala night

Swiss watchmaker Jaeger-LeCoultre celebrated the art of filmmaking, and showcased its support for the cinema at the Venice International Film Festival for the 13th time. On 5 September, the maison hosted a gala dinner at the Arsenal of Venice, attended by Jaeger-LeCoultre Deputy CEO Geoffroy Lefebvre along with distinguished guests such as Catherine Deneuve, Diane Kruger, jury member of the Film Festival Rebecca Hall, Italian actresses Cristiana Capotondi and Eva Riccobono, and director Vivian Qu, among others. Jaeger-LeCoultre also honoured Catherine Deneuve for her unparalleled contribution to the art of filmmaking. The award was presented by actress Diane Kruger, a long-time friend of the brand. The ladies' Rendez-Vous timepieces were showcased in cinema-inspired installations with three new Rendez-Vous Sonatina limited-edition watches stealing the spotlight.

A TIME FOR STYLE

Patek Philippe celebrates the Perpetual Calendar in its 2nd Knowledge Series

Patek Philippe hosted the second instalment of its Knowledge Series in Singapore and threw the spotlight on one of the most sophisticated horological grand complications, the Perpetual Calendar. Held at the Supreme Court Terrace, National Gallery Singapore, the Knowledge workshop was presented by Patek Philippe South-East Asia’s General Manager, Deepa Chatrath, who spoke about the evolution of the calendar, key historical calendar watches, and the technical specificities of the grand complications. Vintage models, along with three additional historical Perpetual Calendar watches loaned from the Patek Philippe Museum-Geneva, were displayed at the National Gallery. Also on show was the Patek Philippe yellow gold open-faced pocket watch with instantaneous perpetual calendar in apertures — P-899 — a technical feat to achieve as using apertures to display the information requires a lot of energy.

SERPENTINE LEGACY

Bulgari's 'SerpentiForm' Exhibition opens at ArtScience Museum

Bulgari honours its iconic Serpenti muse with a show of its own. Curated by Lucia Boscaïni, Bulgari Brand and Heritage Curator, and first unveiled in Rome, the 'SerpentiForm – Snake Through Art, Jewellery And Design' exhibition explores a myriad of creative inspirations, and examines how the snake has been a compelling inspiration in modern and contemporary art, design, fashion, decorative arts, and photography. Landing in Singapore with over 150 exhibits that capture Bulgari's multifaceted inspiration, the exhibition is held at the lotus-inspired ArtScience Museum in Marina Bay Sands. Precious antiquities from East and West highlight the different symbolic meanings of the snakes in various myths and legends, while a 70m installation, featuring 500 video mapped scales and floating Serpenti creations, runs along the wall. Jean-Christophe Babin, Bulgari CEO, expressed his delight at having the "new edition of SerpentiForm hosted in the prestigious and iconic ArtScience Museum." Hollywood actress and Bulgari ambassador Alicia Vikander graced the opening event. The show ends on October 15.
