

GREEN WITH ENVY

Peridot, a very popular gem during the Baroque age, made a come back a few years ago. Let others turn green with envy in this pair of classic earrings by Flower Diamond. The beautiful peridot from Pakistan glows from the inside, sitting alongside the emerald-cut diamond both hemmed in by tiny diamonds.

www.flowerdiamond.com

CHARTREUSE OBSESSION

Gerhard Schreiner's fascination with precious stones is very evident in his designs. This gorgeous hand-made white gold necklace features a Gübelin-certified cushion-cut emerald as the centre stone, weighing over 51 carats. Dangling on a strand of 50 cushion-cut diamonds, the emerald nestles in a white gold metal frame pavé with 100 tiny diamonds.

www.schreiner-jewellery.com

Of Grace & Glamour

Founded in 1985, the House of Dehres strives to redefine the epitome of luxury jewellery, specialising in diamonds and precious gemstones. This stunning emerald and diamond Eternal Green necklace is a testament of the brand's craftsmanship and artistry. Seven pieces of emerald-shaped Colombian emeralds, totalling 35.89 carats, and pear-shaped and round white diamonds make up this statement piece.

www.dehres.com

Carry Your Art

French luxury house Louis Vuitton has unveiled the second collection of bags and accessories, designed by noted contemporary artist Jeff Koons. The artist has reconfigured the famous Louis Vuitton Monogram to bear his initials, while drawing upon his own 'Masters' series as well as paintings by Edouard Manet, Claude Monet, and Nicolas Poussin, among others. Elements from the new Monogram have been crafted by Louis Vuitton in metal and placed on the exterior of the bag along with Koons' signature.

www.louisvuitton.com

IN THE LIMELIGHT

Piaget international brand ambassador Jessica Chastain attended the 54th Golden Horse Awards as the Honourable Guest of Piaget and Award Presenter. The Hollywood actress looked radiant in Extremely Piaget and Limelight Gala Blue Collection jewels and timepiece. Piaget was the Premier Sponsor of the Golden Horse Awards for the fifth consecutive year.

www.piaget.com

